After the meeting a most elegant lunch was served.

golden rod with rich evergreen as a background, while in the parlor, library and dining room the predominating colors of the whole occasion pink and white—were evidenced in the masses of chrysanthemums roses, and festoonings of tulle and ribbon. In the library the beautiful bridal arch, trimmed in smilax, tulle and decorated with candles and pink chrysanthemums, making a charming setting for the bridal party.

Promptly at 7, the impressive chords of the Lohengrin Wedding March were sounded, and two little ribbon bearers, Misses Catherine Reed Calvert and Evelyn Lloyd, in dainty white dresses and pink sashes, appeared at opposite doors of the library, carrying ribbon staffs. Following came Miss Elizabeth Waller, gowned in pink mouseline silk and carrying white chrysanthemums; Mr. Frank Rice, brother of the bride; Miss Scottie Worthington, also dressed in pink silk and carrying chrysanthemums, entered with Mr. Maurice Kirk, followed by the bride and her Honor Maid, Miss Gaitskill, of Winchester. Miss Rice looked stately and beautiful in a handsome gown of directoire satin and the long wedding veil with its crown of orange blossoms. The bouquet of brides' roses, with its shower of lillies of the valley, added a graceful touch to her bridal costume.

Miss Gaitskill was charmingly gowned in pink satin and carried pink chrysanthemums.

They were met at the arch by the groom and his best man, Mr. Will Harbeson, and, turning, the young couple faced their large number of friends and relatives, while the officiating clergyman, Mr. Grubbs, said the impressive marriage ceremony.

Immediately after the ceremony, the bridal party passed into the dining room, where a delicious supper was served.

After receiving the congratulations of their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Worthington, accompanied by many of the guests, drove to Maysville to take the C. & O. train for a few weeks' travel in the East.
